

Funding a Medical School Education

There are many, many resources available for funding medical school and several online databases where you can search for appropriate sources to fit your needs. In addition, most medical schools will provide you with assistance in looking for and applying for loans, grants, and scholarships. Just talk to someone in the Financial Aid Office at the schools you are applying to. Below is a short list of links where you can find more information on general and specific funding opportunities. First are listed links from a few of the top Medical Schools in the country and the next two sections include links from outside and governmental sources for loans, grants, scholarships, and fellowships. The final page lists some information for high-school and college pre-med students, with links to some pre-med program opportunities. These are not exhaustive lists, but should provide a good starting point.
